

canine nutrition

Crony Research Group

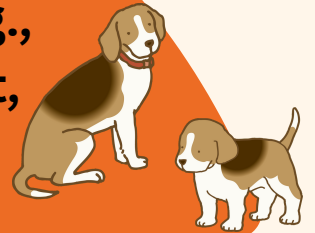

Nutrition Facts
Serving Size oz. Serving Per Container
Amount Per Serving
Calories	Calories From Fat
% Daily Value*	% Daily Value*
Total Fat	Saturated Fat
Trans Fat	Cholesterol
Sodium	Total Carbohydrate
Dietary Fiber	Sugars
Protein

*Percent Daily values are based on a 2000 calorie diet. Your daily values may be higher or lower depending on your calorie needs.

Feed a high-quality, complete, and balanced dog food approved by AAFCO

Feed for appropriate life stage (e.g., puppy, adult, senior)

Follow safe purchasing, preparation, and storage of commercial pet food

Feed to maintain optimal body condition

Select a diet to meet individual needs and physiologic state (e.g., growth, pregnancy)

Association of American Feed Control Officials (AAFCO) aaafco.org

A maintenance diet is formulated to meet the nutrient requirements of an adult dog.

algae oil
corn oil safflower oil sunflower oil

eggs
lentils soybean meal
chick peas

potato barley sorghum
wheat

Ca Zn
Mg

canola oil fish oil
animal fats
beef tallow

fish
chicken
beef
pork

brown rice
sweet potato
oatmeal corn

Clean fresh water should always be available

Vitamins and minerals will be included in the formulation to ensure it is a complete and balanced diet